

Press Information

We are pleased to invite you the Micronutrient Forum's 6th Global Conference (MNF2023), "Nutrition for Resilience" (N4R), which takes place from 16-20 October 2023 in The Hague, Netherlands and Online.

The world is being confronted by multiple, complex, and cascading crises that impact human well-being including the nutrition status of millions worldwide. Rising climate challenges, ongoing food crises and conflicts, including the war in Ukraine, have far-reaching national and global consequences with disproportionate and inequitable impacts on women and children in vulnerable communities. Optimizing the health and nutrition resilience of populations in the face of current and future shocks is critical as we strive to protect and nourish future generations.

N4R will drive forward compelling and evidence-based agendas that connects nutrition and population resilience. Diverse delegates, including leaders, experts and advocates, will come together to elevate and advance policy, research and program priorities and the needed investments that can accelerate progress towards international nutrition and development goals.

Following the success of the 2020 Connected Conference with over 3,500 global participants, our 6th Global Conference will be delivered as a hybrid event, allowing delegates the opportunity to attend either in-person or virtually.

We invite you to join us and take part in the future.
